

Compliance Status Update: ISO 9001 & ISO 14001 Integration

Vibracoustics Ltd is currently undergoing a major strategic upgrade to our operational compliance framework. We are actively expanding our existing systems by introducing the ISO 14001 (Environmental Management) standard and fully integrating it with our established ISO 9001 (Quality Management) framework into a single, unified Integrated Management System (IMS).

While our team completes the rigorous implementation and assessment process for this new combined system, our previous standalone Quality certificate is being superseded. We anticipate that our newly integrated certificates will be fully finalised, issued, and live on the International Register of Quality Assessed Organisations (IRQAO) by December 2026.

During this transition period, Vibracoustics Ltd continues to operate fully to the strict internal standards mandated by both ISO 9001 and the incoming ISO 14001 guidelines. Our day-to-day quality control protocols remain entirely unaffected, and our new environmental controls are already actively in effect.

To demonstrate our ongoing corporate governance, our current, board-approved Quality Policy and newly adopted Environmental Policy statements are available to view.

Should your compliance or procurement teams require any further verification or documentation during this interim period, please contact our quality department at mail@vibracoustics.com.
